PRACTICING HEALTH EQUITY:

THE HISTORY OF EARLY AFRICAN AMERICAN
WOMEN PHYSICIANS

WITH DR. VANESSA NORTHINGTON GAMBLE

Dr. Vanessa Northington Gamble, a professor of Medical Humanities at The George Washington University will be speaking about The pivotal role of African American women physicians in advancing the health of Black Americans is widely unrecognized in American history. This presentation will analyze the lives of African American women physicians who practiced in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. It will examine how in the face of race and sex discrimination these “sisters of a darker race” crafted careers that combined medicine, racial justice, and health equity activism.
